

REACH Translations

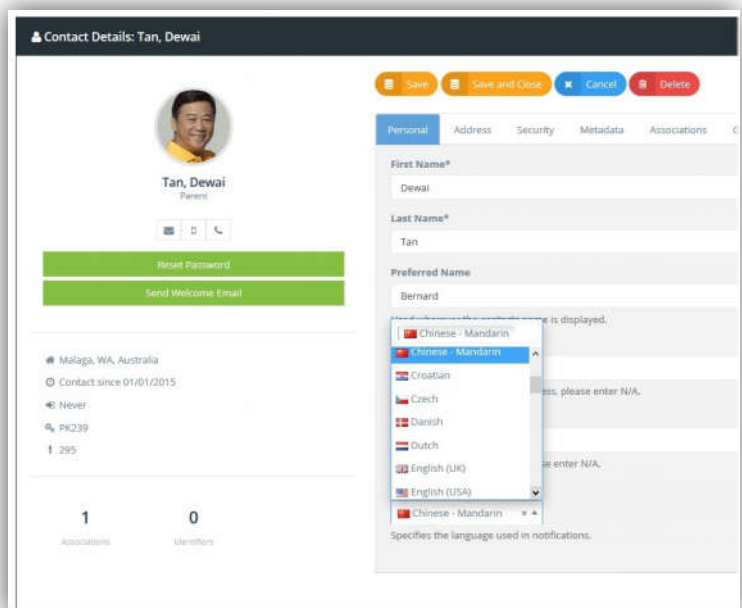

Engage your international parent community with native language communications

Many boarding schools have large international parent communities. It is often the case that many of these parents are not fluent in English as a written or spoken language.

REACH enables you to engage these parents with the ability to select from 48 native languages for receiving leave requests and notifications for their child.

In addition, REACH also allows parents to translate their web portal to native language by simply setting their preferred language in the parent user profile.

www.reachboarding.com